

“Indiana Podiatry Group is my new podiatrist. I was there because I hurt my toe so they did X-rays.

It turned out nothing was broken in my toe so there was not a lot of treatment. I really liked them and the doctor I saw was very nice. She looked so young, but she was professional. The office and staff were very nice. They got me in really quick.”

“The visit included 2 sets of x-rays, one set to try and isolate the problem and a second set to confirm the diagnosis, a brief discussion with the physician regarding the diagnosis and treatment options, and a trial "orthotic" to see if the proposed treatment would alleviate the pain. The jury is still out on the orthotic. The entire process was quick, friendly, and efficient.

Communications were clear and consistent. The only fly in the ointment is the new patient application process which all offices conduct differently and which forces you to regurgitate the same lengthy medical history for every new practice.”

“I saw Dr. Viselli for several months while she tried different ways to ease the pain in my ankle. She was thorough and knowledgeable.

She tried medicine, orthotics (three types), physical therapy and ran many tests to make certain exactly what was wrong. In the end I was left with surgery as the only answer. Now I have to decide if I want to have difficulty walking and have moderate pain for the rest of my life or if I want to be totally off my feet for a month after surgery. Dr. Viselli is pleasant, friendly and very knowledgeable. I would recommend her to anyone.”

“Dr. Schulman was treating my daughter for a broken foot and fractured ankle that occurred on 5/2/13. This was our last appointment! My daughter was released from further appointments. For the first 3 or so appointments, Dr. Schulman said that there was always the possibility of surgery. But luckily, she followed his orders and we didn't have to go that route.

Dr. Schulman has been the family's podiatrist for many years. I always recommend him and Indiana Podiatry Group to any one I hear that needs a podiatrist. Dr. Schulman has the best bedside manner of any doctor I have had. When my daughter was just 7 years old, she saw him for a planter's wart. He never spoke down to her and took the best route for recovery for someone that age.

The staff has always been very pleasant and friendly. If you need a podiatrist, Go there!”

“I had torn a ligament in my foot & could barely walk with severe pain. The Tipton office staff was fantastic! Very professional and concerned. They were able to set up an appointment right away. Dr. Schulman is a miracle worker! I was up and running around in no time. When needed, my family will be his future patients.”

“I had a terrible pain in my right foot and leg. It had started while I was doing Zumba. On the first visit she taped my foot and told me to keep the tape on for a week. She told me I had planter fasciitis and was trying to find out if orthotics for my shoes would work. When I went back, I told her I did not notice any difference. She injected my foot that day and I haven't had any trouble since.

I was certainly happy that she knew what it was right away, and that she tried the least invasive method first. She did have me purchase new sneakers, she told me what brand to buy as I have one foot that is a 1/2 inch longer than the other, so I wasn't running around to different stores. Definitely save me a lot of time and money.”

“I go to Indiana Podiatry Group periodically to have my feet checked.

The doctors and the staff are fine. With regard to availability, there are no problems. The office environment is fine. With regard to punctuality, they are very good. Their communication is good, and the effectiveness of their treatment is very good. The billing and administration is great. I would definitely recommend them and continue to use them in the future.”

“I went to see Dr. Sarah Viselli for pain I had been experiencing in my heel since late summer. She spent a long time talking to me about my symptoms, took x-rays and then explained thoroughly what was going on. She said it was a difficult thing to treat but she would treat it very aggressively until we found something that worked. She was very kind and easy to talk to. I feel she is very knowledgeable.

She began to lay out her plan for treatment, saying if it did not improve in two weeks she would try various other things that she described in detail. She prescribed a medication, gave me insoles and prescribed home physical therapy and treatment and told me to come back in two weeks. I tried everything and returned in two weeks. She then prescribed an orthopedic boot, told me how to use it and said they would call me in one week to see if it had improved. If it had not improved, her next step was to get an MRI. I liked the fact that she was honest with me and told me it was difficult to treat. I liked that she laid out a step by step plan of action.”

“I had a toe spur and had Dr. Schulman operate on it. He did a great job. He explained everything very well and was very personable.

I had had several injections in my foot and needed a second opinion on whether to have surgery or not. He talked with me and didn't pressure me in any way. He even told me that the first doctor I went to was very good. The office staff along with the doctor were very nice and helpful.”

“I experienced foot pain for a couple of years and it just got worse over time. I had seen another doctor who recommended surgery for my bunion, but also gave me a less than optimistic prognosis. I decided to seek a second opinion. Dr. Kilberg correctly identified the source of my foot pain (nerve inflammation).

Dr. Kilberg tried some nonsurgical treatments, which did not result in any significant reduction in pain. He then recommended surgery, but not the same surgery as had been recommended to me before. The surgery (removal of a portion of the nerve) went just as he said it would as did the recovery. I am now pain free and am able to walk long distances without pain. I am now able to be as active as I wish. I can't say my foot is "good as new", but it is pain free. I am very pleased and grateful that he correctly diagnosed the problem and corrected it to the extent possible.

The office staff is friendly and professional. The billing and insurance handling went smoothly. Dr. Kilberg is not the warmest medical professional, but he communicated with me clearly and answered all my questions patiently. I would go back to him and have recommended him to others.”

“I had been having major issues with my feet and could hardly walk.

The doctor was great. He recommended orthotics and some prescriptions to help with pain. When he noticed my condition wasn't getting better, he recommended I have some further testing done which led to a diagnosis of the root of my issues. I'd recommend this office to anyone with foot issues.”

“My parents recently moved to the Indianapolis area to a care facility. I received a call from them one Friday morning, and they said that my mother was in pain and needed to see a podiatrist as soon as possible. They could not articulate the exact problem, just that her feet did not look good, particularly her nails. After consulting Angie's List for a podiatrist, I called to make an appointment for that morning, unsure of the exact problem. Dr. Shulman, at this clinic, was willing to see her.

We waited for a while in the waiting room, but this was not a problem since she was his last patient and he was working her into his schedule. While there, we were told by numerous patients, who were also waiting, what a fabulous doctor Dr. Shulman was and how we were going to be so pleased with his care. The reports were really glowing and unsolicited.

When we met Dr. Shulman, he was very personable, shook all three of our hands, explained the problem, all that he was going to do to treat her, and when Mom should return. He was very candid in his opinions, and competent in his treatment. He trimmed Mom's nails and a callous on the bottom of her foot. My parents congratulated me upon leaving for finding such a great podiatrist. It was a very positive experience. I am very thankful to have found him.”

“I had an ingrown big-toenail which needed surgical removal. The office staff communicated well by phone and email. They were welcoming and made sure I was seen in a timely manner. Dr. Fulkert was personable, kind, and not intimidating. The nursing staff were comforting and very pleasant to deal with.

My ingrown toenail needed surgical attention. I found the Indiana Podiatry group on Angie’s List and was glad I phoned them. The first procedure done to my toe led me to rate the effectiveness of treatment a B only because part of the nail grew back and had to be redone. This was no fault of the doctor (who by the way, during the first procedure, stated that this had a small chance of happening), it just regrew. The second procedure has been a success! I was charged LESS that amount for the second procedure and I was not charged for the follow-up visit. I recommend Dr. Fulkert to others.”
